Tired of...

Mountains of advice and consulting...

Traditional training with no results...

How to choose the right leadership coach...

Fast-paced and stressful environment leaving you unsure of how to make the right decision?

Threats of disappearance in the world of digital transformation?

A labyrinth of leadership development?..

Come to...

A leadership experiential lab with great minds, deep knowledge, and accountability to develop self-awareness, team and systemic coaching skills, all while adopting the NCL ten roles.

Take a quantum leap with the Neocharismatic Leadership approach through self-awareness, altruism, and a high-performing team.

Learning signposts

→ Take your assessment

Among a choice of assessment, we recommend Emotional Intelligence (EQ).

→ Plan your own development

This may involve a different path from the other participants and can contain individual private coaching, self-learning, and more.

→ NCL group coaching

Group coaching is the hub and all leaders pass through this path to acquaint themselves with the model roles, and learn how to apply it. It involves 10 sessions and develops your systemic thinking competence.

→ Individual coaching

As needed and paid for separately but with a great offer as part of your personal development plan.

→ Your NC team

You will get to know all about teams and how they form and perform. You will learn some team coaching skills and how to support your own team. This happens through the training group.

→ Graduation project

The group Teams up to form a task force to transform a real organization on the ground using their newly acquired skills and competencies. The success of this transformational project leads to graduation.
